

WORKPLACE EVOLUTION CASE STUDY: 02

REHO TRAVEL

484 ST KILDA ROAD, MELBOURNE

Following the recent successful delivery of another inspiring workplace, Spectrum Australia followed up with Karsten Horne, founder of REHO Travel, to get his feedback on the new space and their experience working with the Spectrum Australia project management and workplace design team....

What an amazing outcome !

“I think (the new design) actually enhances the way we do business. The teams work more professionally because of the space... Everyone (staff) thinks they have the best space”

“One guy came in today and said this is the best Travel Management Office he has ever seen.... The look, feel, functionality, everything..”

“They absorbed my ideas, took the time to understand our business and then came up with a design that was beyond what I imagined we could achieve.... I look forward to Spectrum working the same magic on our Sydney office”
